

BIRD'S EYE VIEW

We can't forget about our poor feathered friends in October - while we're waiting for the first frost, they're busy trying to ensure survival for one of the toughest times of the year. Make their lives a little easier by making sure you have a birdfeeder in the garden. Not only will this lend a helping hand for all birds big and small, but it will bring a little more life into your garden and draw the eye outside (as tempting as it may be to hover over a hot it's warm outside

blend in with the surroundings with this tree face bird feeder, £14.95 from House of Bath *only the best for your winter garden with a fork and trowel from Highgrove, £44.95

www.highgroveshop.com*

FENCE SUPPLIERS GATE MAKERS
DECKING STOCKISTS

OPEN TO TRADE AND RETAIL

- Standard or made to measure
- Large stocks
- Prompt delivery
- Extremely competitive rates
- Professional friendly advice

VISIT OUR DISPLAY SITE OR PHONE US FOR A FREE COLOUR BROCHURE

Old Station Yard The Old Garage
Woodford Halse Marton
Northamptonshire Warwickshire
NN11 3RB CV23 9RH
01327 262124 01926 633739

www.mainlinetimber.co.uk
sales@mainlinetimber.co.uk

Opening times: 8am - 5pm Monday - Friday
8am - 12 noon Saturday

WINTER PLANTING

Just because the leaves have fallen off the trees, it doesn't mean that the garden need become a colourless, bleak affair. Now is the time for pansies and cyclamens, or any other beautiful blooms that are hardy enough to withstand the cold and wet, and flower in those short winter days. Large and sturdy plants such as fir trees are good for giving structure to a garden and have the added benefit of looking beautiful when touched with frost. Grasses and twiggly shrubs can also be utilised. Dogwood turns a spectacular red in winter for that much-needed injection of colour. Make sure you move your plant pots closer to the windows so you can really benefit from your efforts (and don't forget to plan ahead by planting your spring bulbs underneath your winter bedding!)